Developing Your Graduates

Investing in your future... graduate training with Flagship

Who are Flagship?

Flagship is a private company in a unique partnering arrangement with the Royal Navy. This enables us to offer the Royal Navy's extensive training resources to commercial customers through a wide range of training programmes.

What can Flagship offer?

Flagship can deliver a range of tailored Graduate Training programmes, from assessment and selection events, through one-off teambuilding activities to complement your company's existing scheme, to modular based programmes of up to three years duration.

As the only company with access to the Royal Navy's training facilities and expertise, we are ideally placed to offer a unique experience to graduates from any industry.

Designed to be a memorable and enjoyable learning experience, our training packages are usually tailored to individual company requirements and can last for any duration from one day to three years.

Enhancing Performance

Our training solutions are designed to maximise the performance of your people, increasing their contribution to your organisation's success. We can deliver a wide range of skills training, which typically spans the following development areas:

Time Management

Communication Skills

Innovation and Creativity

Working as a Team

Understanding Company Values

Team Building

Leadership Skills

However, as our training is bespoke for each customer, you can select the development areas which are appropriate for your organisation's training objectives.

Unique facilities for a first-rate experience

Sinking Ship Simulator

How well would your team work in a crisis situation? As the simulator pitches, takes on water and smoke fills the air, your graduates will realise the true value of teamwork and leadership in this one-off environment, only available to commercial customers through Flagship.

Fire Fighting Training

The simulator provides commercial companies with an exciting opportunity to not only experience the intense heat of a fire at first hand, but also to develop your graduates' team building skills while they deal with a situation they would not normally encounter.

Orienteering

With a long and distinguished history in orienteering, the Royal Navy is superbly placed to offer high quality outdoor training in a variety of locations from Bodmin and Dartmoor in the South, to the Lake District in the North.

Assault Course

Do you want to develop your graduates' leadership and team building skills? Then put them to the test using the Royal Navy's training Assault Course. This can be offered as a stand alone exercise for graduate teams or as part of a longer team-building package.

Rigid Inflatable Boat (RIB) and Sailing

Few people have experienced what it is like to be on board a RIB - the type of boat used by the Royal Marines. Our training activities can include this experience, or high quality sailing sessions with the Royal Navy, to produce a truly unique team-building activity.

Conference Facilities

For conferences, team events, and any other large scale meetings, Flagship can offer a range of venues to suit your needs, from Royal Navy shore-based training establishments to on-board ship facilities, all including catering and accommodation if required.
